ROOSEVELT AND DIAZ FOR PEACE

Will Send Joint Letter To Five Republics Of Central America.

CONFERENCE TO SETTLE TROUBLES

It Is Believed That Proposition Will Be Well Received By States Now Having Differences.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—Not resting on his laurels as a peace promoter and unwilling to let the award of a Nobel Peace Prize mark the end of his labors as a shut-out cock on international strife, President Roosevelt has come to an agreement with President Diaz of the Republic of Mexico by which permanent peace in Central America may be reached.

Announcement Authorized Acting Secretary of State Adoo said today that he was authorized by Roosevelt to announce that the two presidents are now in entire accord on all matters appertaining to the future of the five Central American states and that they have planned for the settlement of all disputes now existing between the little Republics.

Invitation to Conference This announcement is taken to mean that the United States and Mexico have formulated a joint note to the five republics, inviting them to hold a conference with view of securing peace. The proposition is that there be drawn a treaty insuring a permanent cessation of differences.

States Want Conference
Among the diplomats here the impression prevails that the states have expressed a readiness to enter such a conference. The differences existing are over boundaries and relations. Petty jealousies and revolutions have also contributed much toward the one continual round of disagreement that began decades ago.

The Five Republics
The republics to which the note will be sent are Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica. With the exception of British Honduras these states comprise all territory between Mexico and the republic of Panama. Their history, like that of all Spanish-American nations, has been filled with disturbances.

Ten Years in a Union
It was in 1823 that these countries threw off their allegiance to Spain and formed a federal union. The war that won independence continued in the form of interstate conflict and after ten years the union was dissolved.

NOW FOR THE THEATRICAL SEASON.

CATHOLICS READY TO BEGIN THE CRUSADE

Incorporation Papers For Fifty Thousand Dollar Mission at the University Filed Yesterday.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 28.—The Roman Catholics of Wisconsin are establishing a $50,000 mission chapel at the state university here, and have filed articles of incorporation for the movement. Archbishop Samuel G. Messmore of the diocese of Milwaukee is one of the incorporators and a member of the board of directors. Rev. Father H. C. Hennig has been working for a year among the wealthy Catholics of the state and has raised nearly all the desired sum. This is another feature of a situation at the University of Wisconsin unique among the universities of the country, being practically a complete of various denominations of religious organizations for the young men and women of the university. The Congregationalists, Baptists, Methodists and Presbyterians have established university missions, either as "student pastors" to work among the students, or as branch churches. Of these several movements that of the Catholics has the most money behind it.

ADMIRAL DAVIS RETIRES AFTER 40 YEARS' SERVICE

Several Important Changes Occur In Navy Upon Retirement Of Admiral Whose Aid Was Refused By Jamaica's Governor.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—Today, after a career of more than forty years of faithful and efficient service as an officer of the United States navy, Rear Admiral Charles Henry Davis was placed on the retired list on account of having reached the age limit of sixty-two years. His retirement causes a number of changes and promotions all along the line of the service. Admiral Davis' place as commander of the second squadron of the Atlantic fleet is taken by Rear Admiral Charles M. Thomas, commander of the second division of the first squadron of the same fleet, who will be succeeded by Rear Admiral Chas. S. Sperry, at present naval delegate at The Hague.

The record that Admiral Davis leaves behind him in the American navy is a continuous succession of diplomatic triumphs. In addition he saw much active service in the Civil and Spanish wars. He entered the Naval Academy in 1851, and was made an ensign in 1855, and in 1865 he had his first experience in actual duty on board ship, his vessel being attached to the New York harbor station. His promotions were—to master in 1865, lieutenant in 1869, lieutenant commander in 1869, commander in 1885, captain in 1898, and rear admiral in 1904.

Admiral Davis is a man of force, learning and executive ability, and has frequently been assigned to important duties, not only in war, but in scientific investigations. Among the latter he was in charge of or connected with several expeditions for the determination of latitude and longitude in the Atlantic ocean, and in the far East; for three years was chief naval intelligence officer, and later superintendent of the naval observatory.

During the war with Spain he was in command of the auxiliary cruiser Dixie, and did a large amount of effective work along the southern coast of Cuba, sinking gunboats, crippling forts and smashing blockhouses, and on one occasion routed a body of Spanish cavalry a day or two before the American troops were ready to make their landing.

Rear Admiral Davis was selected as the American member of the international commission which met in Paris two years ago to inquire into the firing by Russia's battle fleet, in the British fishing trawlers in the North Sea. At the time of the Kingston earthquake disaster it was Admiral Davis, whose offer of assistance for the sufferers was refused by Governor Swenson.

Admiral Davis' title as "Grand Commander of the Order of Isabella" was conferred by Spain in recognition of his services as personal conductor as a representative of the United States government of the Infanta Isabella when she visited America in 1893 as Spain's representative to the Columbian exposition at Chicago.

The vacancy in the list of rear admirals caused by the retirement of Rear Admiral Davis is filled by the promotion of Captain Edwin Conway Pendleton. Captain Pendleton comes from Virginia and graduated from the Naval Academy in 1867. During the forty years he has been in the navy he has seen service in many duties and on various stations. From 1900 to 1902 he was in command of the cruiser Atlanta, and later served as superintendent of the naval gun factory.

TOO MUCH WORK TO PERMIT A HOLIDAY

State Railway Commission Is to Hold Session on Monday Next Perhaps.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Aug. 28.—The Wisconsin railroad rate commission is so well up with work that it cannot even afford to lay off on holidays, and it has been determined to hold a hearing next Monday. Labor day, Governor Davidson recently issued a proclamation designating next Monday as a time for cessation of labor and celebration of the American industrial holiday, and it is said that the unions are displeased at the intention of the railroad commission to disregard the proclamation. Possibly a suggestion quietly made by Governor Davidson will be sufficient to cause the railroad commission to be idle on the day that organized labor celebrates. Monday is the date set for the hearing of the petition of Mr. Montgomery, of the Madison Interurban company for right to build a road between Madison and Stoughton. This plan is being bitterly opposed by many of the leading citizens here and it is understood a number of delegates from this city, Edgerton and along the right of way will oppose the proposition owing to the fact if granted it practically excludes a line being built from Madison to Janesville.

JANESVILLE BOY
LOST ON PLAIN

JAMES, 14-YEAR-OLD SON OF REV.
J. W. LAUGHLIN, MISSED TRAIL.

SPENT A NIGHT IN THE OPEN

Youth Was Taking Uncle's Horse from One Town to Another—Animal Broke Away and Had Seven-Mile Walk.

Lost on a Wyoming prairie and saved from starvation by his own wit was the recent experience of James Laughlin, the fourteen-year-old son of Rev. J. W. Laughlin of this city. The boy, who is a native of this city, was visiting Mr. Laughlin's brother at Larmore, Wyo., and the weekly "Republican" of that city contains the following concerning the experience which would have proved too much for many older than the victim:

"Rock River, Wyo., Aug. 2.—James Laughlin, the 14-year-old son of Rev.
J. W. Laughlin of Janesville, Wis., lost his way between Larimore and Rock River. Mr. L. Laughlin, one of our citizens, wishing to send the boy home recently purchased from Atter-son Gibson of Larimore, to the ranch, started young Laughlin upon the road.
Provided with a map on which the trail was well marked, the boy left Larimore Tuesday morning, with the courage of an experienced westerner, expecting to make Rock River the evening of the same day.

"Real Trail and Paper Trail."
"But twenty miles from the railroad the trail is much more easily traced on the map than on the plain, and disappeared to the western country.
The boy lost his way. With no better map than 'When in doubt go ahead,' he rode on and on across the 'trackless waste' without any guide save the watch and the sun, until overtaken by night.

Camped in the Open
"Then, unable to find the trail, there was nothing else to do but camp, which he proceeded to do. Staking his horse, making a pillow of his an-dle and using the blanket for a seat, he prepared to spend the night with the cheerful backing of the coyote soothing him to sleep as he thought of home and comfort a thousand miles away.

No Half-Way Experience
"Experiences are not half-way in the western world. They come in the full, and during the night the horse broke away and quit the boy, so that when he woke he found himself deserted by his best friend. None but a man with a similar experience can appreciate the feelings of a boy from the east when met by such a fate.

Boy Keeps His Wits
"Without losing his head, the boy, as soon as it was light, picked up his saddle and started for the trail. Seven miles, which seemed like seventy, across the plain, brought him to a ranch, tired and hungry, having had an experience he will never forget, but which he has all desire to repeat.
"The horse, none the worse for a sixty-five or seventy-mile trip, wandered to Nelson's ranch and was brought into Rock River the next day."

Kind Forgetfulness.
As years go on it is kinder after all to let birthday dates slip into oblivion.
To a woman—use her age depends upon her looks—any reminder of the speed with which time is flying is a grateful insult.—London Tribune.

FLYING ROLLERS IN CITY, CAMPAIGNING

They Believe Physical Death as Well as Spiritual Death Can Be Prevented by Obedience to God's Laws.

Four Flying Rollers, Marion and Gale and their wives, Charity and Lena, arrived here from Madison yesterday afternoon and are making a two days' campaign. They are endeavoring to educate the people to what they believe is the only shun pure religion. The sect established a society at Benton Harbor, Mich., four years ago and all followers, except those sent out as disciples, reside there. They call it the House of David and do not wish to be confused with the Holy Rollers or Holy Jumpers. Their name comes from a book called "Leaves from the Flying Roll," which they hold as sacred. It is their faith that physical as well as spiritual death is the result of disobedience to the laws of God and can be prevented. All believers expect to live everlastingly, planning this faith to certain passages of the new testament. Their interpretations of the Bible are followed explicitly and men and women alike wear their hair uncut and flowing. Tonight they will conduct a street

T. E. BENNISON TO REPRESENT CHURCH

Janesville Delegate to State Electoral Conference—Ministerial Conference Soon.

T. E. Bennison has been elected as delegate from the Janesville Methodist church to the state electoral conference to be held in Milwaukee in the latter part of September. The body will choose four men to represent Wisconsin as lay delegates to the quadrilateral general conference to be held in Baltimore in May, 1908. At the same time the lay convention in the meeting the annual ministerial conference will be in session in the Asbury church in the Green City. Rev.
J. H. Tippet will represent Janesville and Rev. E. S. McChesney the Janesville district. This session is similar to the conference held here last year. Four ministerial delegates, the Wisconsin representation, will be chosen to attend the general conference. The general conference has charge of all church legislation. Several new bishops are also to be elected, vacancies having occurred through death. Among those who have died since the last conference are Bishop McChesney, Bishop Joyce and Bishop Pitzgerald.

THE DEVELOPMENT
OF THE ROCK RIVER

Ellis B. Usher Points Out Great Advantages That Lie at Janesville's Doors.

In a recent article on the work of the Inland Waterways Commission, which seeks a large appropriation from the United States government to pursue its work, Ellis B. Usher makes statements relative to the Rock river in the vicinity of Janesville that are most interesting. After dealing with the leading rivers of the state he touches upon the Rock and its importance. He says: "Take for example the Rock river, which has its rise and natural storage grounds in the Horton marsh, the Madison lakes, and Lake Koshkonong. The plan would be to restore these storage grounds by forestry and proper holding works, and by placing of levees along the stream to check the washing of the banks and adjacent lands into the stream and thus to aid in securing a permanent channel and a steady, unobstructed flow from absolute. Engineers tell me it will not be necessary to raise the water of these lakes and holding grounds. The work can be so constructed as to draw down the waters rather than raise them up, but they must not be allowed to go to waste. The result of such methods would be to greatly increase the capacity, and value of the water powers along this stream, with consequent increase in the wealth and resources of Wisconsin."

WHAT NEW LAW
EXPECTS TO DO

STATE FIRE MARSHAL'S DUTIES ARE DEFINED.

A BRIEF SUMMARY GIVEN

T. M. Purtell, the State Fire Marshal, Writes What is Expected of Each City.

In a letter received from T. M. Purtell, the new state fire marshal, whose office was created by the last state legislature, the duties and requirements of this important position are clearly defined. Mr. Purtell asks that it be published that the general reading public can become acquainted with its requirements. It is of vital importance to all property-owners.

The most important duty of the fire marshal is to create a universal impression that swift pursuit and inevitable punishments await any one who burns property for revenge or to defraud. He is also given power to correct conditions which are liable to cause fires, that are discovered by his inspectors or are reported by citizens.

"The fire marshal law provides that the 'causes, origin and circumstances of every fire occurring in the state in which the loss exceeds $250 shall be reported to the fire marshal. The report of a fire in a city having a fire department is to be made by its chief; if in a city or village by the mayor or president of the board; if in a rural community by the town clerk. The report is required within two days to the fire marshal, who is to make investigation as to whether such fire was the result of carelessness, accident or design."

Suspicious Fires
If there be circumstances which suggest a probability that the fire was started intentionally by some one, no matter how small the loss, the state fire marshal must be notified at once.
If there are no suspicious circumstances the officer must "within one week furnish to the fire marshal a written statement of all the facts relating to the cause and origin of the fire and such other information as may be called for by the blanks furnished by said fire marshal."

The penalty for the failure of the clerk, mayor or fire chief to so report a fire is a fine of $25 to $200.
For the making of each report township clerks and municipal officers who do not receive a stated salary are allowed $2 and ten cents a mile to and from the place of the fire. This money is paid to the reporters of fires at the year's end. Fire chiefs and majors receiving stated salaries get no fees.

In a few days blanks and instructions will be mailed to those officers. Upon their active sympathies and the success of the new fire marshal department largely depends.
Powers of the Fire Marshal The fire marshal, his assistants or deputies may take up the investigation of any fire at any time and exercise all the powers of a court. They may compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books; may administer oaths, make arrests, and punish for contempt by fine or jail sentence. They may separate witnesses and exclude attorneys during examinations. The fire marshal must reduce all testimony he takes to writing, furnish a copy of it with all other facts of value to the prosecuting attorney of the county and follow such case until it is disposed of.

The fire marshal or any of his assistants is given the right, at all times of day or night, to enter a building in which a fire has occurred, or the buildings nearby for the purpose of examination and may "at all reasonable hours" enter any buildings or premises for the purpose of investigating the dangers.

May Remove Dangers
The fire marshal or his assistants may direct that any building which is so dilapidated as to be a fire danger shall be repaired or that dangers from combustibles or explosives be removed. The owner who fails to comply with the order of the fire marshal can be punished by a fine of $10 to $50 for each day's neglect, by suit brought in the municipal or justice's court.

The necessity of having a state department for the investigation of suspicious fires lies in the fact that successful fires in that line can only be done by those who have special training in the pursuit of incendiaries; other duties have no time to acquire.

Difficulty in Convicting It is more difficult to convict one for burning his property to defraud the insurance company than for any common crime. The burning is always deliberately planned, repro-ses no accomplices, may be so arranged that the fire will occur at a time at which the guilty person is at a distance, and the evidences of the crime all go up in smoke. At best the evidence is circumstantial and to secure a conviction by circumstantial evidence is always difficult.

In nearly all cases of burning to defraud, an insurance agent has overlooked a losing business or an undesirable home. Many think that it is the insurance company that pays the loss. It is not. The other policy holders have paid it in advance in their premiums. The insurance company only distributes the loss.

LONG ON ANTHRACITE.

The anthracite coal supply of the United States would last at the present rate of consumption, for three hundred years. Allowing for the probable increase, the director of the United States Geological Survey thinks we are safe for at least two hundred years. This is gratifying, and now if the good old kitchen stove will hold out and our grocer will keep on handling HEN HUR FLOUR we can be assured of continued fine bakings, unless our celebrated Wisconsin Cakes go all to pieces.

EVENTFUL AFTERNOON
AND MERRY EVENING
AT THE GOLF LINKS

Finals in Tourneys for Special Prizes Were Played Yesterday—Ninety at Supper—Dand Concert a Great Success.

With the weekly reunion at the Shinnepott golf links yesterday came to a close the ladies and men's tournaments for special prizes which began with 21 entries each on August 14 and created unprecedented interest in the great Scottish game in its various phases. There were no hundreds but instead the players were entertained according to their previous showings in the first, second, and third flights. The first flight in the men's tourney, for instance, included such players as Al Schaller, Leo Brownell, F. E. Fildell, Chester Morse, Orion Sutherland, J. P. Baker, Fred Schaller, and H. Ross King; while Bums Brower, H. G. Carter, J. L. Wilcox, Mark Hoxsley, C. H. Gage, J. G.
Roxford, Charles Schaller, and F. C.
Grant qualified for the second flight; and H. S. McCallin, S. D. Tullman, A.
P. Burdette, C. C. MacLean, E. W.
Morgan, Wilson Lane, W. G. Wheeler, and Frank Jackson were entered in the third one. Fred Schaller, traveling in the first company of the first flight made an unexpected showing and not only reached the finals with flying colors but defeated his last opponent, Frank Fildell, yesterday 2 up and 1 to play. Bums Brower was the winner of the second flight, defeating J. L.
Wilcox 4 up and 1 to play. C. C. MacLean defeated H. S. McCallin in a close contest for the championship of the third flight.

Miss Wilma McCallin, Mrs. H. G. Carter, Miss Lizzie Schaller, Mrs. W. G.
Wheeler, Miss Catherine Fildell, Miss Daisy MacLean, Miss Josephine Carle, and Mrs. J. P. Baker composed the ladies' flight in the ladies' 36-hole putting tournament which Mrs. W. G.
Wheeler won yesterday by defeating Miss McCallin 2 up. In the finals for the second flight Mrs. H. S. McCallin won from Miss Isabel Smith 5 up, and in the finals for the third flight Miss Helen Ketcher defeated Mrs. E. A.
Ketcher 1 up.

At the conclusion of the club-soupper which was served to about fifty people, President W. G. Wheeler, with appropriate remarks, presented the six winners and the six runners-up in the two tournaments with the handsome trophies which have been on exhibition at one of the local jewelry stores. The prizes included desk-sets, cups, silver, hosier, handkerchiefs, and many other useful and ornamental substances.

Shortly before eight o'clock the important band arrived on the scene and the complimentary concert given by the band-commissioner was inaugurated.
The musicians were seated in an enclosed area flanked by gasoline torches about 200 feet from the clubhouse and the voices of the reeds and brass-es, coming up from this little corner in the greater amphitheater of the hills, with the myriad lights of the city twinkling on the eastern rim, took on a quality of indelible charm. At the conclusion of the concert, supper was served for the band at a long table in the clubhouse, Roy Carter sounding the opening dance number just as the guests were seated.
When the report was finished, the members of the band took up their instruments again and played indoors four lively two-steps which evoked a storm of applause. Dancing lasted until twelve o'clock. Among the out-town visitors were Mrs. Homer, Mrs.
St. Louis who is visiting at the home of A. J. Thurst, and Mrs. E. E.
Bohrndt of Chicago who is spending a few days at the home of her mother, Mrs. Jonathan Nash.

On Labor Day—next Monday—there will be a special contest for the ladies in the forenoon and mixed for-gones in the afternoon. Those who expect to enter the foursome events are requested to leave their names with J. P. Baker. The choosing of partners will be left to the gentlemen.
The next event at the links is the tourney with the Rockford Country club team on Friday of this week.

Botanical Jaunt from the Dells to Janesville Planned by Walter Cae-

Leonel Burgess and Walter Cae-

Washington, D. C., on a sabbatical, are planning to make an extensive botanical expedition in the state, walking a distance of one hundred and fifty miles.
They will leave for "the Dells" Sunday, taking the train and then come home afoot. The route is eighty miles as the crow flies but the young men figure that they will go double that distance in their search for flowers, shrubs and other forms of plant life.
Both boys became interested in the study of botany while students in high school and they expect this long jaunt will both increase their fund of knowledge and have an interesting and unique outing. The trip will consume ten days.

My commission expires Feb. 11, 1911.

shipping season comes. It is useless to point out these defects in the measure to the farmers; they do not realize that the public in some way or other are to be made to pay for the legislation and restrictions. If they have reduced fares they lose the excursion rates; freight rates go higher and in consequence the commodities are higher to the retailer and he in turn makes it cost more for the consumer. Wisconsin has long had the two-cent fare in the thousand-mile books and the persons who really traveled used it. The increase in freight rates is going to affect every line of business. The farmer with his hogs, cattle and produce for the market, the merchant with his stock of goods and the grocer and butcher who depend on the outside supply. This condition of affairs exists in Iowa and Iowa today is far behind its sister states in manufacturing and other industries. By the legislation which created and empowered the rate commission with final judgment in these matters the state has been bound down and fettered with a bondage that may ruin its future prosperity. It has placed in the hands of a few men an immense power that can be used as a weapon never dreamed of in the days of the "Twoed ring" or the "bainy days" of the San Francisco control by commission. The present complexion of the state railway commission refutes any charge of political activity but such activity is a possibility and the people are powerless to help themselves. More injury can be done the state industries in one year under rule by commission than be done in ten.

That question of an interurban to Madison is one that needs attention. If Mr. Montgomery is given a franchise to build a road between Stoughton and the Capital City it is all off with any chance for a road from Janesville to Madison. Two roads can not exist even if the law would allow them to parallel each other's tracks, which it will not. The only way to stop this is for a delegation of citizens to appear before the railway rate commission at the hearing next Monday and ask that Janesville's rights be considered.

So Secretary Taft has stepped into the hero class at last. Well, it was about time. Fairbanks has done something great and Cannon had sworn off smoking so Taft really had to quell that party of frightened passengers when the train wreck came or lose caste.

Chicago health officials say that two-thirds of the sickness that exists in that city was brought about by the ventilation habit. Evidently the health department would have everyone follow the late Russell Sage and never take a day off until death claimed him.

One of the Pacific coast exchanges asks what harm there is in admitting the Japanese who are hard-working people, when anarchists can come in free of charge and stir up all kinds of trouble.

Chicago people turned out, and registered yesterday just as they were told to. The charter question is one of importance to the residents of the Windy City and the voters realize its importance.

When Taft reaches Texas he will certainly not feel crowded. He can travel for several days without getting out of the confines of this fertile state.

It appears that Wellman has not yet started for the pole and all the paragraphs written about his successful trip and wishing him a safe return were waste of time.

There was no necessity for a steamer rate war to increase the population; they were coming over fast enough as it was.

It appears that the two-hundred-and-fifty-thousand-dollar theft was merely a two-hundred-and-fifty-dollar one.

Franco has all the work it can attend to out in Morocco.

Chicago gamblers have begun a dynamiting game now.

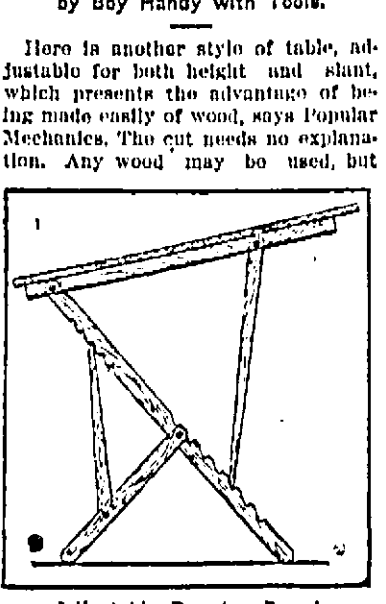

HOW IT IS VIEWED
"The situation in Alabama continues to be ticklish and the railroad men and the state officials are each a little uncertain as to the others' escaping arrest and imprisonment," says the New York Commercial. "While the railroads listen to threats or are arrested by the state officials, those officials tremulously observe the handwriting on the wall executed by Thomas G. Jones of the United States court. On Saturday, a railroad delegation waited on Judge Jones and asked as to their recourse in case of threatened arrest by the state. The judge, after denouncing any such possible proceedings as an entirely unnecessary indignity to the individual laborer, said: 'In view of the threats that have been publicly made, it is eminently right, and may save trouble for me to say to you now, as I do say, that if you are arrested you will be immediately released on habeas corpus and the officer making the arrest in contempt of the orders of this court will be severely punished so that he will remember it for a long time.' This is in line with Judge Jones' charge to the federal grand jury last Wednesday, when he read to that body the United States statute providing severe punishment not only for every person interfering with the processes of a federal court but for any person who 'corruptly or by threats or force endeavors to influence, intimidate, or impede any witness or officer in any court of the United States in the discharge of his duties, or corruptly or by force or threats obstructs or impedes or endeavors to obstruct or impede the due administration of justice.' In his charge the court plainly stated that the jury would be detained in session for some time in view of possible overt acts threatened by the pretended friends of Alabama 'home rule.' So local hysteria continues to batter its head against the federal wall—and the end is assured.

GREAT POWER GIVEN
Manufacturers are just beginning to realize what the power of the state railway commission is going to do to them. Clothed in the garb given it by the legislature, this commission can break the business interests of the state or work for their benefit. Reformers may shout as much as they desire of the great good that will come from railway legislation but the bare facts remain that it is a dangerous power to place in the hands of a few men no matter how honest they are. It is impossible to tell any corporation that they must maintain a certain number of workmen, must employ more men at higher salaries and then must sell their commodities at a lower rate, and expect them to continue in business. If any manufacturer in the state was told this he would throw up his hands and close his factory. Yet this is what is asked of the railroads. The passenger rates are lowered, the roads compelled to hire hundreds of extra telegraphers to conform with the new eight-hour law and are otherwise hampered and restricted. What is the consequence? The railroads to meet this new demand upon their treasury have raised the freight rates. It has been directly felt by Janesville shippers already and will be heavier than ever as the

GREEN BAY HOTEL WAS BURNED TODAY

Famous Baunton is Partially Destroyed by Fire This Morning.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 28.—One life was lost and damage to the amount of $25,000 was done by fire in the Baunton Hotel, one of the best known hotels in the state, this morning. Ninety-eight guests escaped. The fire started at 2:30 o'clock and the principal loss is to the furniture and fixtures owned by F. G. Hall. This loss alone is estimated at twelve to fifteen thousand dollars. The rest of the damage is to the hotel building. Henry Baunton of Milwaukee is owner and the loss is covered by insurance. An eighteen year old boy, named Henry, employed as engineer at the hotel, met death by suffocation. He was sleeping off the engine room, when the fire started he climbed to a window but was overcome and fell back into the fire. Combustion of gasoline fumes resulting from the engine room, one explosion occurred and within a moment the flames reached to every corner of the engine room and spread rapidly to the rooms of the servants, kitchen and laundry, and soon the rear of the building was a mass of flames. It was not until eight o'clock that the firemen were able to extinguish the flames. The night clerk, Carl Christensen, smelled the smoke and was the first person to see the fire. He sent in an alarm and quietly notified each of the ninety-eight guests in the hotel. There was no panic. Pink Hawley, the well known La Crosse baseball player, was one of the guests.

HOMemade DRAWING TABLE.

One Easily Constructed Out of Wood by Boy Handy with Tools.
Here is another style of table, adjustable for both height and slant, which presents the advantage of being made easily of wood, says Popular Mechanics. The cut needs no explanation. Any wood may be used, but some hardwood like ash or maple for the supports will combine lightness with strength. If the whole is fastened together with one-quarter by two-inch stove bolts, instead of nails, it can be taken apart readily and packed in very small space.

USE OF BUILDING TILE.

The Method of Constructing Fireproof Buildings.
The elimination of the fire hazard in modern buildings is based upon the principle that all supporting iron or steel girders, columns, and beams must be protected from fire by some material which is a poor conductor of heat and not easily disintegrated or injured by high temperatures. Burned clay materials, such as flat, hollow, porous, and semi-porous terra cotta blocks, and certain grades of burned bricks, are commonly employed for this purpose. Owing to the relative lightness of these materials and their high fire-resisting qualities, most steel frameworks of large buildings are incased in hollow or flat terra cotta tiles laid in cement mortar. Many of these clay tiles and blocks are burned in the making to 2,000-2,500 degrees, so that in any fire they will not crumble or crack at a temperature below that to which they were originally subjected.—Scientific American.

Polishing Small Articles.
It is said that a high polish may be obtained after nickel plating on small steel articles, such as screws, by tumbling them with leather and dry rags. The articles are placed in a tumbling barrel with leather scraps. Some dry rags are put into the barrel along with the screws and leather and the whole is tumbled for some time. The rags coat the surface of the leather, and causes it to act like a polishing wheel. Canvas scraps may be used in place of leather.

WHERE WATER IS COSTLY.

Little of the Precious Fluid is Wasted in Death Valley.
The nearest water supply of which Death valley camp could even occasionally avail itself was at Ash Meadows, nearly 40 miles away, on the Twenty-mile trail between Johnny and Death valley, writes Kelly Brandon in The World To-Day. Kelly's well, previously mentioned, provided better water, but it had to be hauled farther, much of the way up a heavy grade, and the tremendous daily strain on that oasis by the desert mule skinner, freighters, left little to spare. Water had to be hauled into camp in barrels, therefore, on six, eight, ten and twelve-wheeled wagons, and the supply on hand was always woefully inadequate. At best, water cost ten dollars a barrel, generally $15; often the price was one dollar for half a gallon, and by no means infrequently a glassful required $50 cents. A "body snatcher," as the citizen of Death valley is called, were told, makes a basin of water go far. Part of it fills the coffee pot; the remainder, face and hands having been washed in it several times, suffices for the small laundry necessities and is then given to the burro to drink.

DIET THAT VARIES LITTLE.

German Workmen Take Many "Snacks" During the Day.
I was told at 8:30 it was time for luncheon, writes an American traveler working in Leipzig. On stating that I did not care to eat, he told me that it would be better if I did no work, so I sat down for half an hour and watched the others. At noon we had an hour and a half, and at four o'clock 15 minutes for lunch. It may be of interest to some readers to know what the German eats. For his first breakfast he generally has a milk roll and a cup of coffee. The second breakfast is almost always a slice of bread with lard or goose oil, a piece of sausage or cheese and a bottle of beer. For dinner he has two slices of bread as above, with a herring or large green pickle, cheese or sausage and another bottle of beer. For lunch another bottle of beer and a milk roll. For supper soup and potatoes. This is the general variety of foods we had for the four months I worked in that shop, and they had it day in and day out.

Quite True.
A class of Norwich, Conn., primary scholars were given a language lesson in which the word "organic" was to govern the sense of the sentence. One little fellow wrote better than he knew when he intoned: "The Italian is the most organic man on the face of the earth!"

No coffee of equal quality can be sold in this town for the same price, whether it be sold out of a bag or a bin, or under some romantic trade-mark. You may tell them you know and that Arbuckle Brothers, the greatest coffee dealers in the world, will stand for it.

NOVEL TRUCK.

Designed Especially for Handling Cases on Stairways.

In buildings where there are no elevators the problem of transferring large packing cases and similar bulky articles to the upper floors is a perplexing one. Generally it is necessary to open the case on the ground floor and transfer the contents in sections. The ordinary two-wheel truck is practically useless in such emergencies, and only of slight use in hauling the cases down the steps. A truck that should prove successful for other handling cases up or down steps is shown in the accompanying illustration, the invention of a Californian man. The inventor utilizes six wheels, three on each side. Each wheel revolves on an extension of the axle. The position assumed by the wheels of this truck on a stairway is clearly shown by the dotted lines in the illustration. All joints and jars are obviously eliminated, insuring safety to the contents of the case on the truck. In addition, no unnecessary strain is placed on the operator, it being possible for one man to handle large, heavy articles with the truck.

Used Them for Insoles.

The American consul at Nankin utters a caution to his fellow countrymen, who spend lavishly on illustrated catalogues, on thick paper, handsomely bound, which appear to be highly prized by the Chinese at Nankin, where the supply is at times unequal to the demand. As the English language is not yet a general accomplishment among the citizens, the consul made inquiries, and discovered that the leaves of the catalogues were being used as insole soles for shoes.

Two Deer by One Bullet.

Reginald Worthington, aged 20, killed two deer at one shot on his father's deer preserve, says a Stroudsburg correspondent of the Philadelphia Record. Worthington saw two fine fellows running along rapidly side by side, drew back on the animals and fired.

The deer nearest him fell dead, shot through the lungs, then the bullet sped on, wounding No. 2 in an equally vital spot. One deer weighed 200 pounds and the other 185.

PUSHED THE BEAR ASIDE.

Surveyor Tells of Experience He Does Not Care to Repeat.

To walk right up to a monster bear and try to shove it out of the way and then escape without so much as a scratch is an experience of a lifetime. Harry Engelbright found it so a few days ago in Diamond canyon, above Washington, says a Nevada City correspondent of the Sacramento Bee. The young man, son of Congressman Engelbright, has just returned from the upper country, where he has been doing some surveying, and relates his thrilling experience. It was coming on dusk, at the close of the day's work. In the brush-lined trail he saw protruding what he thought were the hind quarters of some stray bovine. He walked up and gave the brute a shove. It came to its haunches with a snort that made his hair rise and caused him to beat a hasty retreat. The big brute looked around and then shuffled off into the woods. It was either asleep or else so busy eating units from an old log that it failed to hear the young surveyor, whose footsteps were deafened by the thick carpet of pine needles. Later it was learned that the same bear, a monster cinnamon, had killed a dog earlier in the day. The dog ventured too close and with one blow of its paw the big beast sent it hurtling yards away, dead as a doornail.

ALL RELIGIONS IN LONDON.

Faithful Community Latest Addition to Its Queer Sects.

The Faithful community which has established a modest footing in Baltham, and whose comprehensive gospel ranges from the creation of man to the "glory and labors of the gods and goddesses of the Ethelean heavens," is the latest addition to the long list of London's religious sects, which are now almost as many as the days of the year. In London the Chinaman burns his incense stick in more than one house; in the east end, the Mahometan has his mosque, the Malayan his temple; near St. George's street east; the Parsees worship the sun in Bloomsbury; the Mormons have a mission in Islington, and in many parts of the metropolis the Buddhists and Ancestor Worshipers perform their strange rites. Of Christian sects in London there are at least 300, including the Coklers, the disciples of William Strigood, the Walworth shoe-maker; the Peculiar People, who prefer prayer to physicians; the Handemans, the followers of Joanna Southcott, the prophetic serving maid; the Shakers and the Seventh Day Baptists.

Ghost Plant of Oregon.

While picking berries at East Twentieth and Skidmore streets Sunday Miss Charlotte Lindsay came upon a ghost plant, says the Portland Oregonian. This plant is of rare occurrence in western Oregon, and this is the first time that it is known to have been found in or near Portland. The ghost plant was known and much prized by the Indians of Oregon in times past, and is sometimes known as the Indian pipe plant. It is said the Indians believed that it had great remedial qualities and made from it a lotion which they considered curative for the eye. It is a tall, waxlike plant about eight inches high and its bloom resembles a waxen cup.

Underground Lake is Found.

Akron, O.—An underground lake was discovered in Hudson township during the construction of the new Lake Erie & Pittsburgh line from Leavitt to Pittsburg.

A trestle was built over the spot, which is marshy, and when the men returned one morning the trestle resembled a roller coaster track, parts having sunk into the earth.

Investigation showed that underneath an 18-foot crust of earth was a lake, in some places 73 feet deep. An effort will be made to fill up the lake with earth.

Why the Sky Looks Blue.

It is the atmosphere that makes the sky look blue and the moon yellow. If we could ascend to an elevation of 50 miles above the earth's surface we should see that the moon is a brilliant white, while the sky would be black, with the stars shining as brightly in the daytime as at night.—The Reader.

Millionaire's Treasures.

The late James Swan's splendid house in West Fifty-first street, New York, had an ornament standing at the foot of the front stairs which he prized more than all the rest of his household goods. It was the old, old spinning Jenny, on which his grandmother and mother made thread of wool and cotton in the humble home in Tennessee. No paper-mache about that! Another millionaire New Yorker was graduated from a farm in the South, his den decorated with a plow, a set of harness, a hoe, a pair of chain braces, a milking stool, a pitchfork, a mattock and an ox yoke, all handsomely trimmed with ribbons and shellecks. "My beginnings," he says, laconically, when guests stare.

PLEADED GUILTY TO CHARGE OF ASSAULT

Ernest Schumaker Paid Fine and Costs of $32.25 in Municipal Court This Morning.

Ernest Schumaker, bartender at Podewell's saloon, against whom information charging resistance of an officer of the law in the performance of his duty had been filed, pleaded guilty to simple assault through his attorney, Charles Pierce, in municipal court this morning with the understanding that the more serious charge would be pulled by the state. He paid a fine of $25 and $7.25 costs. This authority was granted to a substitution of the lower charge owing to the fact that evidence as to exactly what happened in the saloon was very conflicting and the further fact that the defense had raised a technical question regarding the right of Officer Mason, without having witnessed the transaction, to arrest without a warrant for something less than a felony. The Rockford man in whose behalf Schumaker was alleged to have interfered.

Nearly one hundred members of the local G. A. R. post and a large delegation of the W. R. The martial band composed of four old veterans made things lively around the depot with a bunch of war-time tunes this morning before the arrival of the train at Edgerton. A large dinner on the picnic style was served in Royal Hall this noon and the afternoon was taken up by the program printed in last Saturday's Gazette.

Mr. and Mrs. Mead will reside here until autumn when they will accompany Mrs. Mead's mother and other members of the family to Alabama and there make their home. MAN UNDER FALLING HORSE UNINJURED James Clifford, Who Was Run Down by North-Western Switch-Engine, Experiences Accident Yesterday Without Injury.

If a man can be knocked down by a switch-engine and have it nearly pass over him, to be dragged out unhurt, and have a horse fall on him without injuring him, he has a fair show to live a few days longer. At least this is what James Clifford is telling his friends after being caught in a ditch under a horse that fell in on top of him yesterday afternoon. Just as the whistles were blowing for one o'clock, Clifford was working on the storm sewer that is to drain the streets in the vicinity of the Five Points and was down in the ditch when the accident occurred yesterday afternoon. As one of Frank Klinge's horses stopped too close to the edge of the ditch, the bank gave way and the animal rolled in. Clifford was caught under his dangerous position, he was found to be unhurt. The animal was raised to the ground by the workmen on the job with planks which they piled with. It will be remembered that Clifford was run down by a switch-engine in the local North-Western yards a few weeks ago but escaped without injury.

Quartet of Young Ladies Departed Overland with Full Camping Outfit, Including Four Trunks, This Morning.

Aboard a heavy wagon freighted with a quartet of large trunks, several boxes of provisions, chafin dishes, bridge-whist sets, and the other regulation camping kit, and piloted by Joshua Crall, four members of the "Pray Do" Outing club departed on an overland journey to Delavan Lake this morning. They will spend two weeks at one of the cottages on the Chautauque grounds. The members of the party were the Misses Helen Nash, Agnes Shumway, Louise Shearer, and Harriet Hostwick. Mrs. Edward Peterson expects to join them next week. "Visiting friends will be welcome at the camp but those who are accompanied by the where-with-all to substantially improve the bill of fare will be more than welcome," was the parting salutation.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

Continue to Gain: Mrs. Sutton Norris and Mrs. Homer Paul, both confined to the Mercy hospital as the result of recent operations there, continue to gain. Both were reported this afternoon to be doing very nicely.

Not Albert Higgins: It was not Albert Higgins of the town of Harmony who drove the girl with a baby to the Mary Kimball mission last Saturday. Mr. Higgins did not know the woman and she never was at his place.

JOHN G. SHEDD, the managing partner of the great house of Marshall Field and Company testified before the Board of Review of Cook county three years ago last April that the firm had only $1,000 to its credit in the bank. He said that their receipts and expenditures were so nicely adjusted that that was all they needed. Whether you have $1,000, more or less, on deposit with us, that is your business and it is a principle of our business and one strictly observed, to keep what we know about your business to ourselves. In other words, your dealings with this bank are strictly confidential whether you borrow or deposit, or merely ask for advice.

We pay 3 per cent interest on certificates of deposit.
